ACTIVE

Order Of The Day

At the sound of the 6:55 beeper, the cadets began their day. Getting dressed, making their beds, eating breakfast and cleaning their rooms all took place before the morning prayer service in the Chapel at 8:15. After the service the students reported to their first period class.

At 3:00 classes ended and activities began. After the afternoon recreation period, students cleaned up and went to supper. After supper, students were given a choice of recreation areas or extra study. There was a general study hall for all students at 8:00. By 9:00, the exhausted young men prepared to retire after a long day.

BELOW- Cadets assemble in the gym three times each day; at morning calisthenics, before dinner and after school.

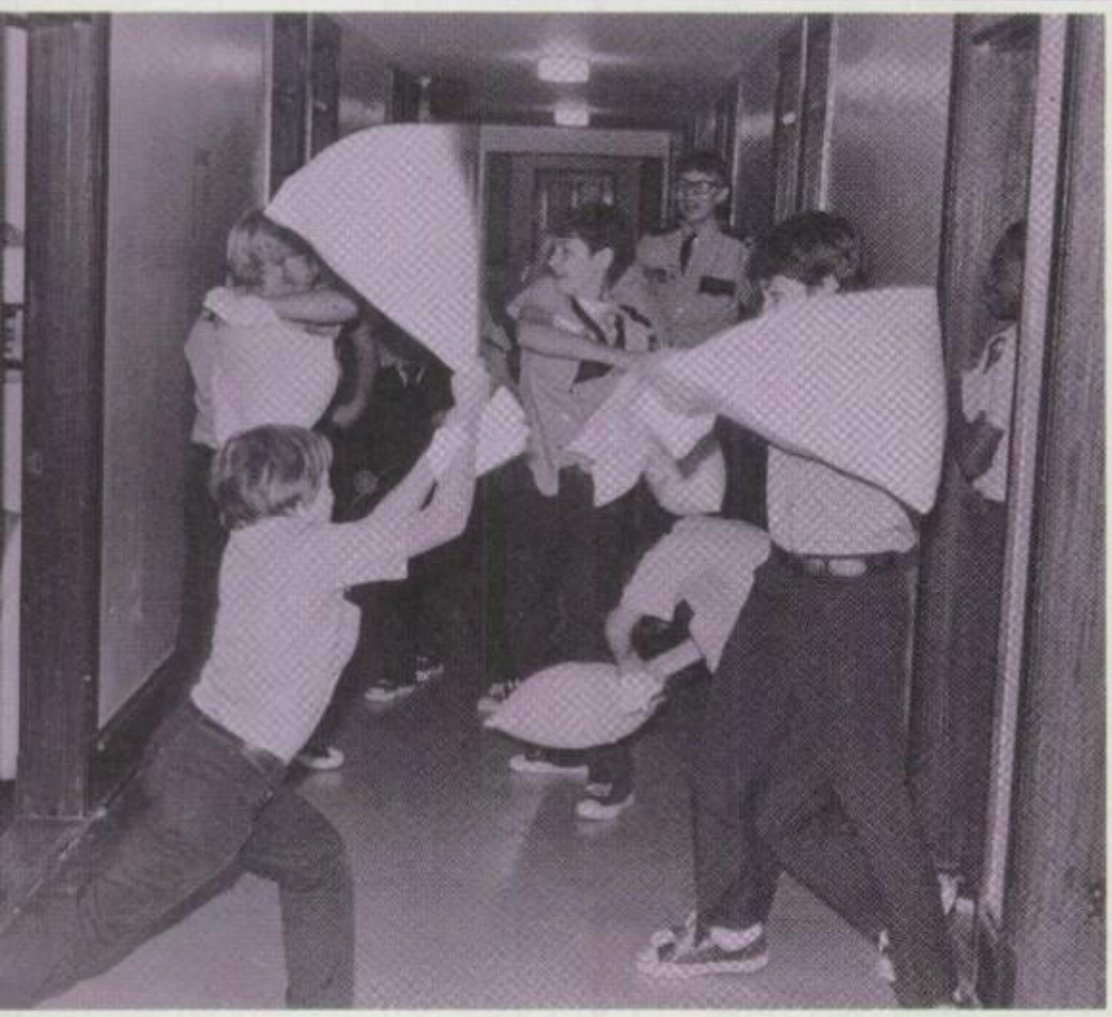
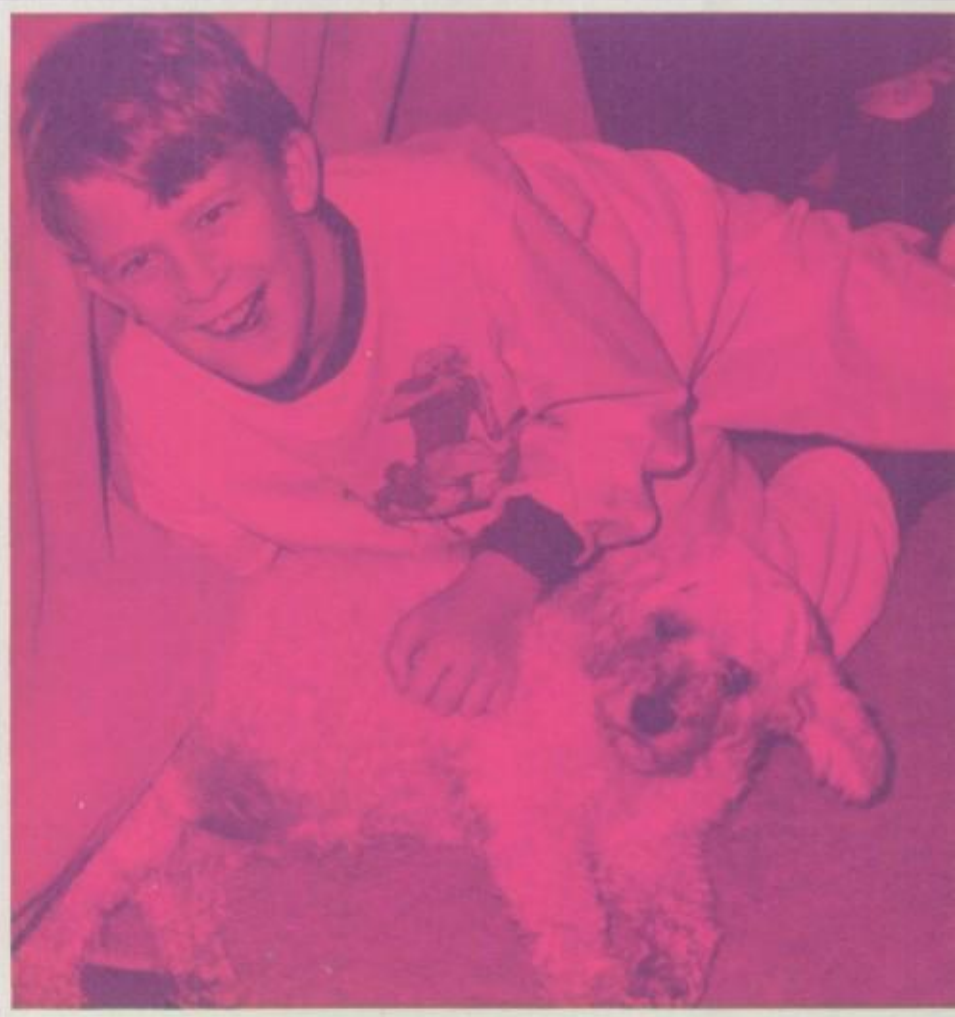
LEFT- Chris Ladysz and Ricky Lazaro take down the flag.

Dorm Life





TOP- Jerry Rudolph is fast asleep after a hard day of study and play.
BOTTOM RIGHT- Robert Warren, a member of B Platoon, seeks advice from his prefect, Mr. Neumann.

Living away from home was not always pleasant. The dorm life at LeMans did have its advantages, however. The Cadets had the great chance to get to know other people on a deeper level. By learning to share ideas, dreams and goals, boys grew in understanding of each other. By sharing socially at Platoon parties and other activities, they grew in friendship.

ABOVE- Scott Atha and Phillip Brisco are surprised to find that they have the same style of pajamas but more surprised to see Alfonso Alvarez's choice of pajamas with "feet."

Headmaster's Weekend '77

A brisk, cloudy day sets the tone for the third annual Headmaster's Weekend. The Weekend, organized by Brother Edward Grams, began with classroom visitations. Intrasquad football, and soccer games were held in the afternoon. Promotions and L.M.A. Services Awards highlighted the evening's Dinner-Dance.

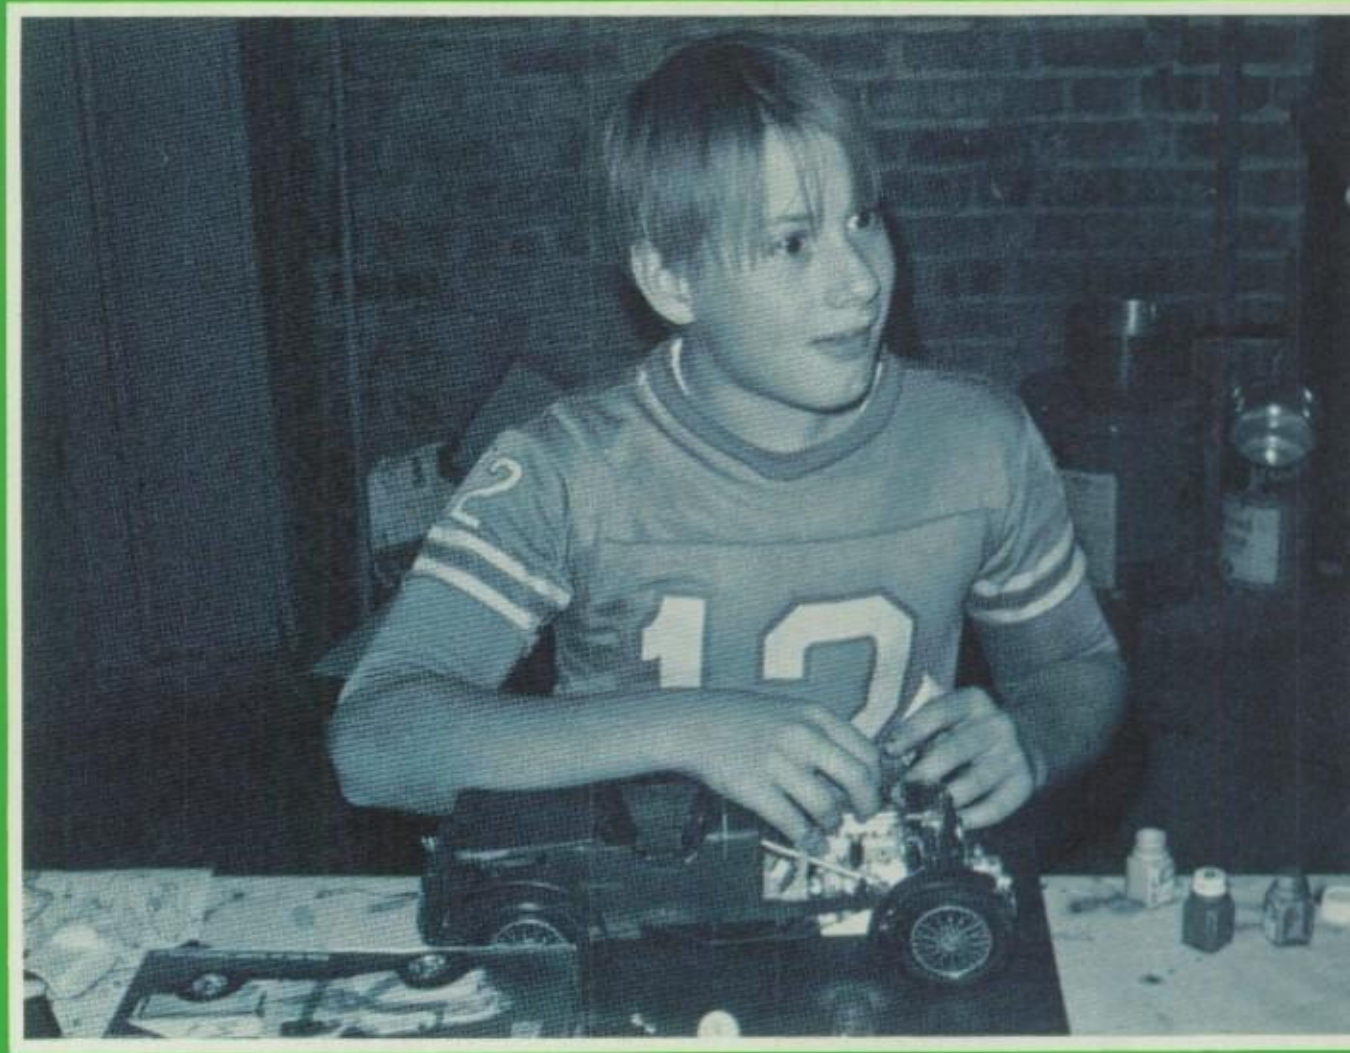
Active And Involved



People that come to visit LeMans Academy are always amazed at the flurry of activity that takes place after school hours. The first stop after fall-in was usually the canteen where students could get a snack before recreation. Then it was off to practice if you were a member of a team. Intramurals were a must for those not on school teams. On days when there was no intramurals, students were able to pursue their own interests. Skateboarding became the craze in 1978 with the new asphalt on the drives at LeMans. During the winter months, crafts, ping-pong and pool were very popular. Rollerskating in the gym was always a good time.

A Platoon Competition Winner

All year long the four platoons competed in drill competitions in order to get ready for Parent's Day. On Parent's Day, the platoons performed for their parents and were judged by an official member of the armed forces. A platoon, under the direction of John Robbins, won the platoon trophy for 1978. After drill competition, the Exhibition Drill Team performed and then the Drum Corp, under the direction of Drum Major Mark Fecteau, took the field.

Arellano, Pazik Are Top Ranking Officers

Promotions were a big event at LeMans. Tension and anxiety mount as students assembled in the gym where they were rewarded for their showing leadership. Each student left the assembly happy that he received the promotion that he had worked for or sad but realizing that he needed to try harder to do what was expected of him.

Parent's Day '78

A beautiful sunny day set the tone for the 1978 Parent's Day. Parent's Day, traditionally the biggest event of the school year, was a time to honor the parents who have done so much and made so many sacrifices to give their sons the opportunity to attend LeMans Academy. One of the highlights of the year was the new, permanent review stand constructed by Brother William and several industrious cadets. Trophies were presented to students who showed outstanding scholastic improvement, citizenship and sportsmanship during the school year. The day came to a close with the presentation of diplomas to the eighth graders and the singing of the school song.

LEFT - The Headmaster, Brother Peter Graham, welcomes all of the guests to Parent's Day.

Dance Dance Dance

Three dances were held for the students during the school year. Invitations were sent to the local schools before each dance inviting the girls to attend. The first dance featured a group called The Impressions. The second dance had the very popular group called Potpourri. A disco company was featured at the last dance of the year. Al Robles, together with John Robbins, Tom Pazik, Mark Fecteau and Stan Fields, practiced a dance that they did to the song NIGHT FEVER from the movie SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER.

Yearbook Adds Wonderful World Of Color

The 1978 Arches Staff - Mike Waldren, Bob Paylietner, John Robbins, Konrad, Hodonos, Frank Kowal, Brother Robert, Brian Foley and Robert Warren.

With the fifth edition of the ARCHES came many new challenges. As in the past, students were encouraged to sell candy and ads to help support their yearbook and build the best book ever. This challenge brought many results this year. Twenty pages were added. For the first time, color was introduced to the book. None of the improvements could have been possible without the involvment of the entire student body. The ARCHES yearbook had indeed become a tradition at LeMans Academy.

Mini-Courses Add Interest And Fun

Mini-courses were moved to the evenings this year so that students could choose to be part of several different courses. Archery was one of the new courses offered this year. One of the most popular courses was jewelry making. Under the direction of Father Calhoun, students learned to make rings, jewel trees and other unique items. Students sold their creations at formal Academy functions.

Hi! How are you? I'm fine. We've been snowed in for five days. It's really cold out with fifteen feet of snow covering the roads. We are slowly running out of milk and have to preserve as much as we can. I hope the snow plows will be able to clear the roads soon, so I can come home. I miss you alot

Rifle Team Takes State

In its second year of competition, the rifle team won two very impressive awards. The rifle team was broken down into two gorups; the juniors made up of boys from 13 to 15 years old and sub-juniors made up of boys 13 and below. The sub-juniors won the sectional meet held in South Bend and the state meet held at Culver.

For the first time in the history of the rifle club, a student earned the rank of distinguished expert. Ed Gonzalez, a first year member received this award.

First Fencing Team At LeMans

For the first time in the history of LeMans Academy, a fencing team was formed. Under the direction of Father Calhoun, an inexperienced group of students went out for the team. After nine weeks of practice, the young fencers traveled to Chicago for their first meet. Out of thirty-six fencers, Tom Pazik took fifth place. Pazik also took third place in the junior olympics qualifications at Culver, Indiana. Tom finished in the top twenty in the country at the junior olympics held in Houston, Texas. Robin Mahon, Jim Adams and Mauricio Arellano also placed at several meets during the first fencing season at L.M.A.

Leaders Update Programs

Bringing things up to date was the main goal of the Administration during the 1977-78 school year. In the kitchen, new ovens were purchased to replace the antiquated ones. Br. William spent many hours remodeling and repairing the building.

Brothers Peter, Edward and Shaun and Mrs. Kessler also updated in their respective areas. A new viewbook was printed showing the Academy as it existed in 1978. After much discussion and planning, Br. Ed and Mrs. Kessler served as ambassadors for LeMans to our families in Mexico.

Talented Teachers

Three new teachers joined a strong veteran staff to form one of the strongest teaching staffs in the Academy's history. Brother Paul Schaefer became a member of the language arts department after spending twenty-seven years in Brazil. Mrs. Mary Jane Kominiarek and Father Calhoun made up the Religion Department. After brief absences from LeMans, Brother Leo and Brother Thomas Henning again contributed their fine talents to the program.

Residential Staff '78

At LeMans Academy a strong, concerned staff is just as important after school as it is during the school day. The residential staff worked with the cadets from after school until eight o'clock the next morning. Giving assistance with homework and giving advice to needy students was very much a part of the prefects' responsiblity. The prefects also had the job of making each student feel at home and a part of the platoon to which he belonged.

Kitchen Crew

Making and serving the food at LeMans Academy is the job of the fourteen ''kitchen ladies.'' When asked why they chose to work at LeMans, each had a different response. As one lady put it, ''It's like one big, happy family.'' Another said that she liked the ''homey atmosphere'' found here.

5th And 6th Graders Adjust To L.M.A.

After coming from a home environment, fifth and sixth grades must go though a period of adjustment. Most of the young men took the period of adjustment in stride and soon became part of the Academy family. The biggest adjustment was getting used to doing things according to the rules of the school. Not having parents around to help with the daily chores, the boys had to get into the swing of being on their own with the encouragement of the older cadets and the dorm prefects.

7th Graders Enjoy Active Academy Life

Seventh grade was sort of a get acquainted year. Because of the small fifth and sixth grades, many of the seventh graders were at LeMans for their first year. Therefore, the class had the task of working toward developing a class identity as well as each individual making new and lasting friendships.

Peerapat Charaspotiratanakul was the first Thai student to attend LeMans. A seventh grader, Peerapat had to adjust to the customs, culture and language of the United States. Able to speak only a few English words, Peerapat was aided by teachers and students until he could begin to communicate fluently. Peerapat will attend American schools until he graduates from college.

What Is Your Name Please?

Confusion was the order of the day as several people share the same names. In a school as small as LeMans, it was rare indeed that four couples had the same or nearly the same names. Making announcements was obviousley a problem. The girls in the communications room spent many a confusing moment wondering which Al Robles or which Ed Gonzalez was wanted on the phone.

Eighth Graders Assist At Card Party

Each year the LeMans kitchen staff sponsors the St. Patricks Day card party. Though the crowd was not as big as expected, the party was still a success. Many eighth graders volunteered their time to make sure that all of the guests had an enjoyable afternoon. The proceeds went toward refurnishing the cadet lounge.

Surviving The Blizzard Of '78

One of the most memorable events of the school year was the blizzard of '78. The snow began on Wednesday afternoon, January 25, and continued for the next forty-eight hours. The result was forty inches of snow and drifts as high as twenty feet.

At LeMans, the staff and students took things in stride. With the exception of five teachers who were kept away from LeMans because of the road conditions, school continued as normal. In the kitchen, students gladly participated in helping Brother James prepare the meals. One strong-hearted group set out with a toboggan for Rolling Prairie. They returned several hours later with thirty-five gallons of milk in tow.

The monthly leave had to be postponed until the roads could be cleared. After five days of being cut-off from ''civilization'' the road was cleared enough for transportation to resume. The eager students, many suffering from ''cabin fever'', boarded the bus for Chicago and a well deserved week's vacation.

Hair Code Reinforced In 1977

After a three-year period of laxity, the hair code was reinstated at LeMans Academy. Students had various reactions to the revived rule. Some kids said that they really did not mind because short hair was coming back in style.

Others were quite vehement in their protests. Those who objected stated that they felt out of it when they were home on the weekends or leaves. Though many students voiced their objections, the code was not changed during the year.

"I've been here two years. It's been good and bad. LeMans has taught me things that I will always remember."
Frank Kowal

Disco Fever Strikes LeMans

With the release of the movie, SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER, the disco sound rapidly became part of the dance scene. Discos sprang up all over the country as people flocked to hear the beat, move their feet and dance, dance, dance under the flashing colored lights.

At LeMans, many students also got into the disco fever. Learning the steps and getting the feel of the music kept those interested young swingers in the groove.

During the summer of 1977, Konrad Hodonos was chosen to attend a Children's International Summer Village in Stockholm, Sweden. Konrad was one of four delegates representing the United States at the Camp. The purpose of the camp was to promote world peace and friendship among children of all countries. Twelve countries were represented at the Stockholm assembly. After his four-week experience, Konrad felt that the biggest lesson that he learned was that people are the same, no matter what race, religion or nationality.

Hang Out Beats Weekend Doldrums

Sunday nights were dull for the eighth graders until January when the ''hang out'' began. The hang out is a place where the eighth grade class can go to listen to music and talk with their friends. The candle lit room and the smell of incense adds to the pleasant atmosphere. After a long weekend of activities and study halls, students looked forward to an evening of relaxation.

Sullivan Tops All Salesmen

In order to have a successful yearbook everyone at LeMans Academy had to take an interest. Two of the hardest workers in the fund drive were Dan Sullivan and Dean Turco. Dan brought in $440.00 in ads and candy. Dan had to make many personal sacrifices in order to bring in this huge amount. Some things that Dan did were to offer to shovel peoples walks in exchange for their buying a candy bar or a patron. Many hours were also spent talking to business men about the benefits of advertising in the book.

Dean Turco was the second highest salesman with $325.00. Dean, also had to make several sacrifices so that the ARCHES could be successful.

Ninth Graders Show Leadership

In its second year, the ninth grade program continued to develop. Seventeen students made up the class that got involved and led the student body. Each of the ninth graders offered some particular talents to the program. In athletics, ninth graders made up a strong and active core. By their actions, many showed leadership.

Ninth Grade Enjoys Mall Trips

The ninth grade program included several outings during the school year. The most popular place for the outings was Marquette Mall in Michigan City. Here the young men could choose from six different movies, do some shopping or just walk around for the afternoon. Students were eligible for the outings if they were in good standing in their classes and had less than three demerits in the week preceeding the outing.

Mathematics

After each Math student was tested, he was placed in a group where he could work at his own pace and level. With the arrival of the SRA Math kits, students could go to areas where they were weakest and build up their skills in that area. Students were constantly encouraged to work hard and, therefore, progress through various levels. No one was ever "finished," for there was always more to learn.

Science

Learning by way of experimentation was the key for the science classes at LeMans Academy. Whether it be testing the hardness of rocks in Earth Science, observing how light effects plant life, in General Science or dissecting cow eyes in Biology, students got involved and learned a good deal about the world around them.

Language Arts

Improving reading, writing and comprehension skills was the goal of the Language Arts department. To reach this goal, the Language Arts classes were extended to two mods. By using several new Language Arts kits, students got involved and interested in reading and writing.

ABOVE - Mrs. Kessler, along with judges Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, congratulates Konrad Hodonos and Frank Kowal for their fine work on declamations.
LEFT - Paul Ciprus searches for the next level of spelling words in the individual spelling kit.

Social Studies

The goal of the LeMans Academy Social Studies department was to allow the students to think for themselves and come to their own conclusion about matters pertaining to the past. Stress was also placed on study skills; learning how to use a book, find necessary information, read maps and graphs, and how to take tests.

TOP RIGHT - Tony Kramer puts the final touches on the ship that he made in social studies class.
ABOVE - Dan Sullivan leads the discussion on HOLOCAUST. All eighth graders were allowed to watch the four-day program.

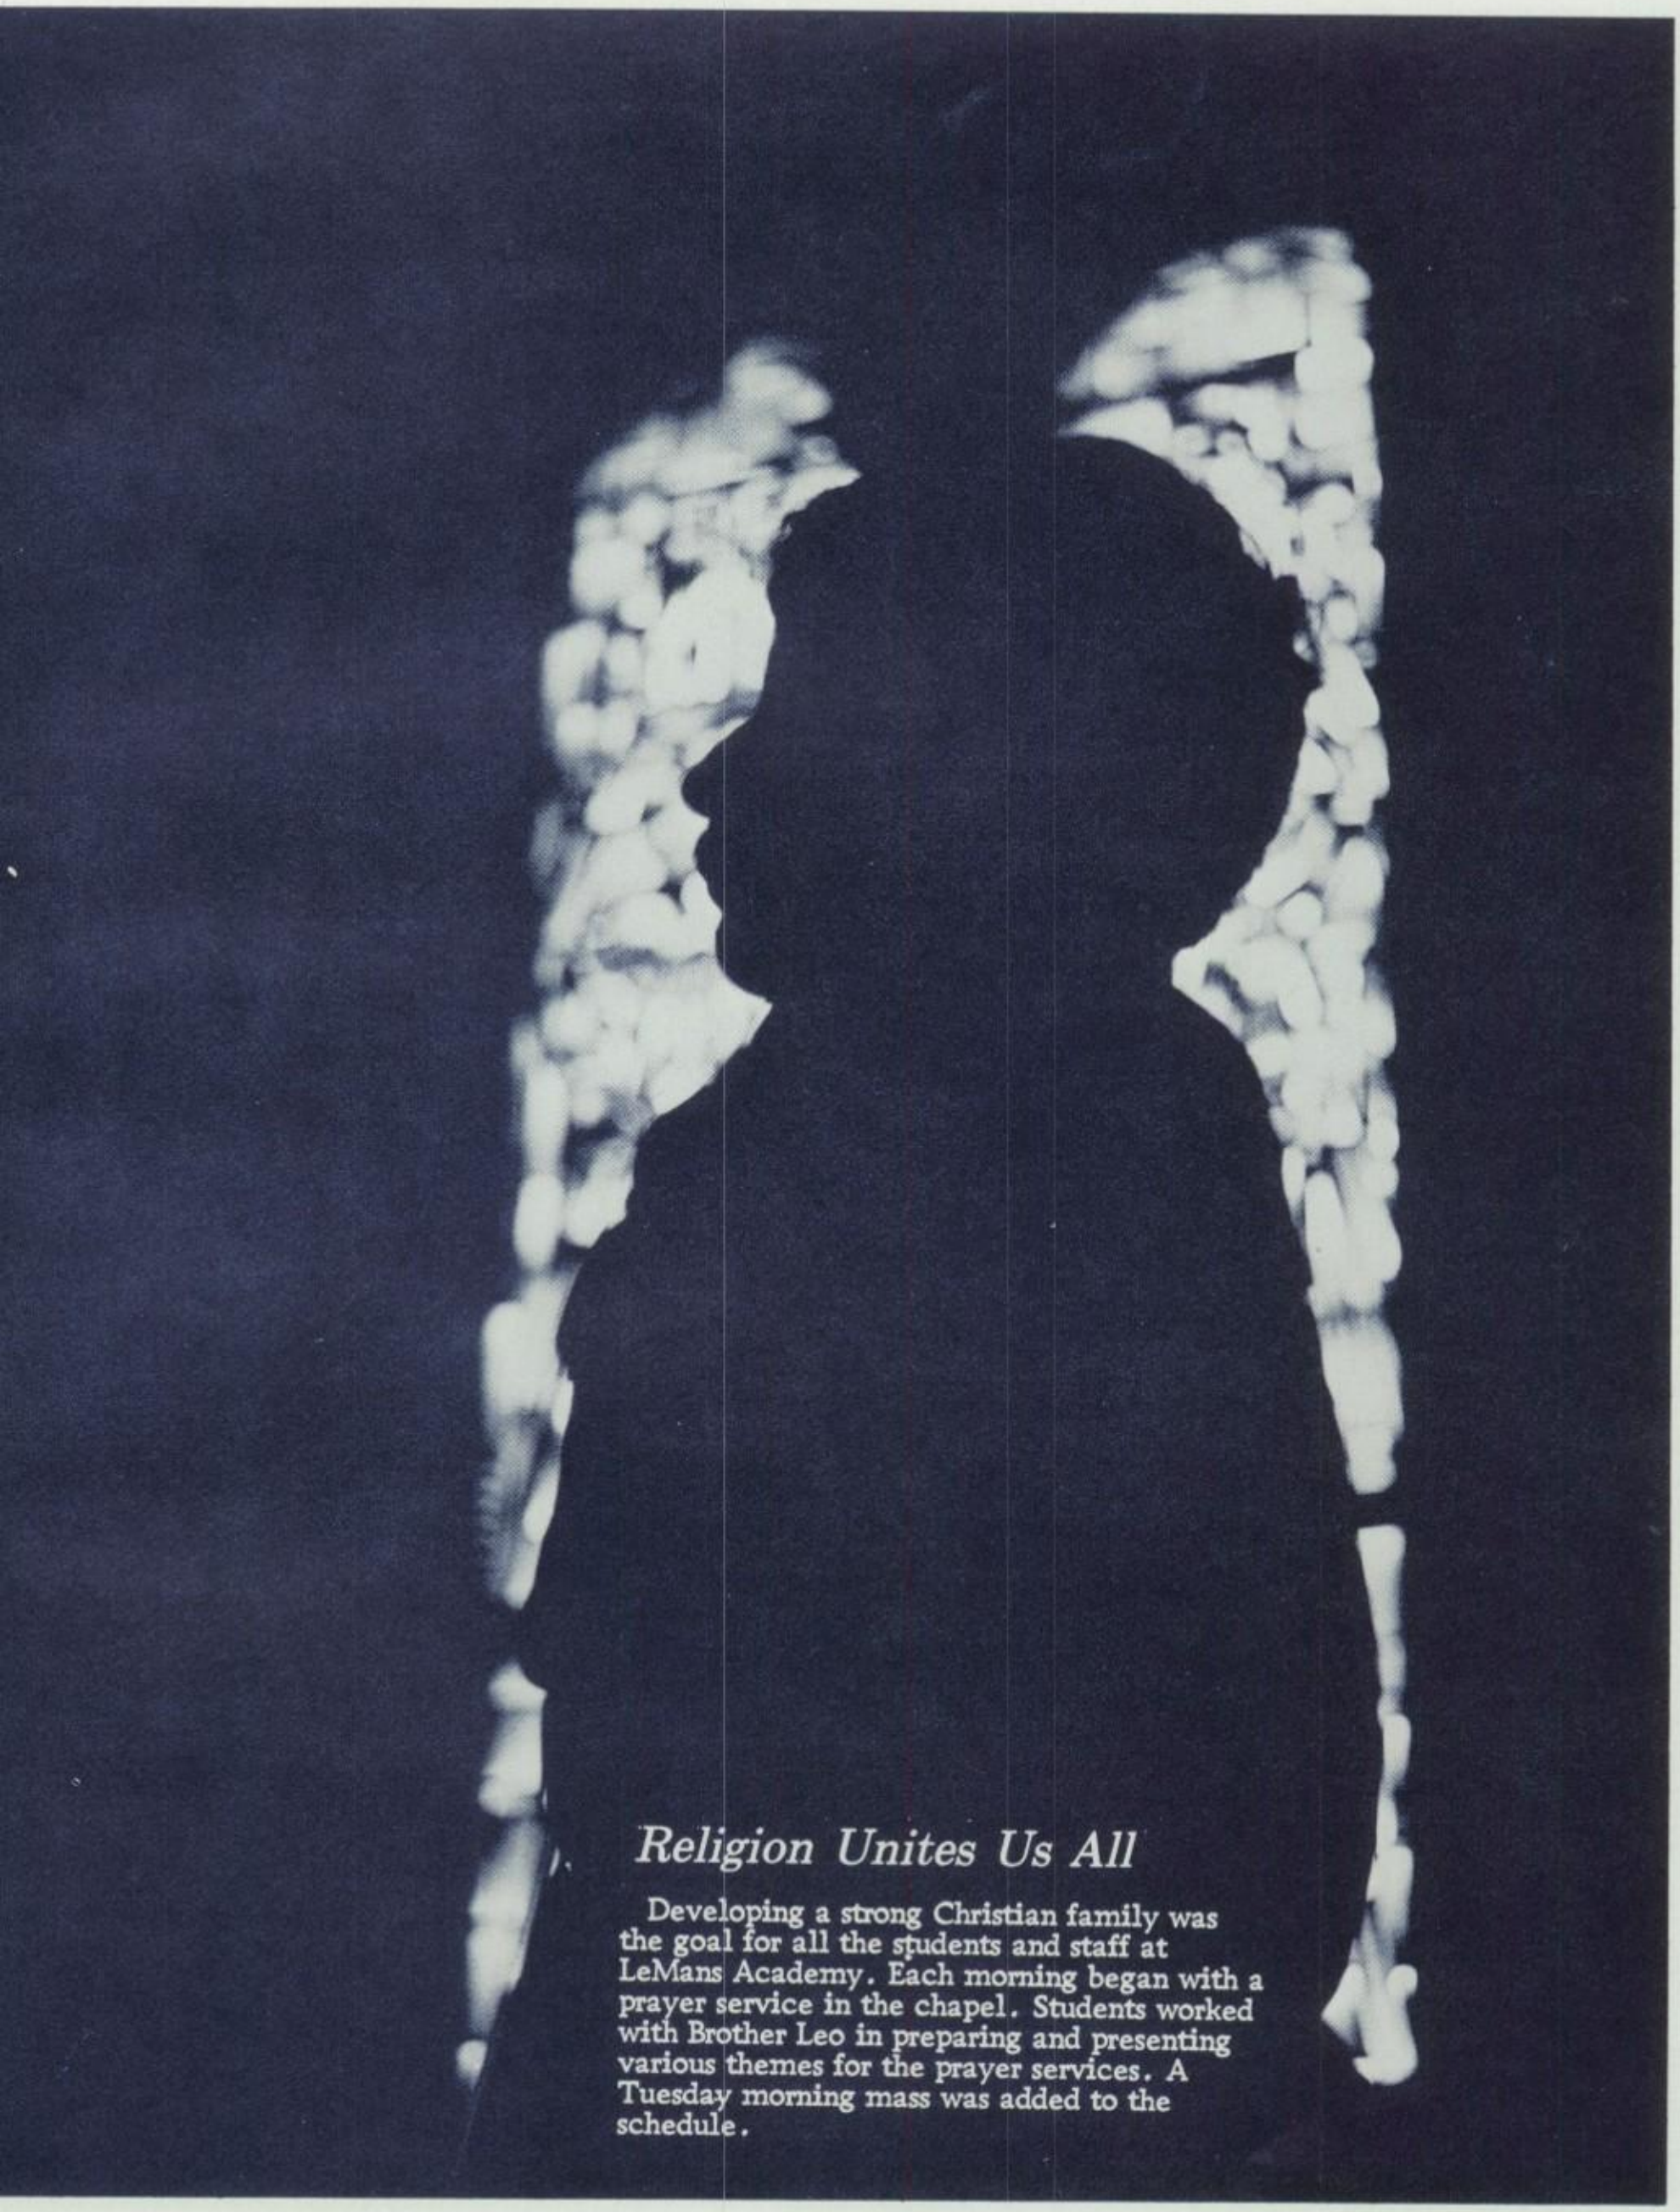
ABOVE - Tom Oelschlager, Luis Sampson, John Brebeck, Keith Lunn and Brian McGill pray together in the crypt chapel.
RIGHT - Students study the Old Testament in Religion class



Religion Unites Us All

Developing a strong Christian family was the goal for all the students and staff at LeMans Academy. Each morning began with a prayer service in the chapel. Students worked with Brother Leo in preparing and presenting various themes for the prayer services. A Tuesday morning mass was added to the schedule.

Skills Taught In Art

Art students were exposed to many different skills during the course of the year. Some of the favorite assignments were wire crafts, clay scultoring, and paper construction. Time was also spent learning perspective drawing and designing floor plans for their future houses.

BELOW - Cut and paste is the name of the game for Ed Moragrega and Alfonso Alvarez.
BOTTOM - Martin Diaz shows special talent in his work with clay.

MIDDLE - John Robbins and Rodney Oller demonstrate the use of the verb ''to be'' in Spanish.
ABOVE - Konrad Hodonos reads the Spanish story before translating it into English.

Two Electives Are Offered

Spanish and Mechanical Drawing were the two electives offered to the eighth and ninth graders. Students were given a choice of taking either of these two courses or Art. The elective courses were taught three days a week.

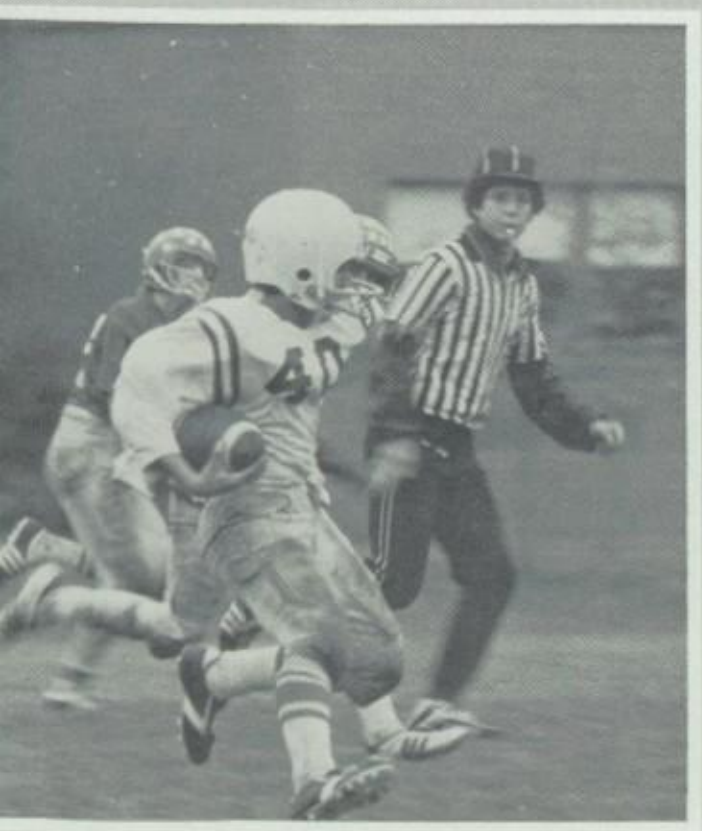
TROPHY



Soccermen Remain Tough

The LeMans Academy soccer team continued to be the toughest team in northwestern Indiana. Adding Argos to the schedule, LeMans was able to boast that they traveled far and wide to play the best teams and proved to be too tough for all. The only loss of the season came at the hands of Culver Military, a team that the Spartans had beaten earlier in the season. Because of the great interest, a junior varsity team was started at LeMans during the 1977 season.

RIGHT - Coach Brother Basil is pictured with Amador Campomanes and John Robbins who share the award for most improved player; Mauricio Arellano and Fred Mosig, the most valuable players; and Diego Septien, who received the sportsmanship award.

Gridmen Finish Strong

After losing their first four games, the Spartans got it all together and won three of the last four games. The first victory in two years came on October 12 against a tough South Central Junior High team. In the last two games of the season, the gridmen avenged earlier losses at New Buffalo and Stanley Clark, thus ending the season at the 3 and 5 mark.

"B" Team Takes Second At Elston

The B Team poured it on by winning the last five games of the season to bring the record to 10 wins and 8 losses. The highlight of the season was taking second place in the Michigan City Invitational Tournament. The young Spartans won easily over South Central in the opening round but lost to Elston in the final round. Tom Balint was given the most valuable player award The most improved player award went to Paul Alexander while David Petty received the sportsmanship award.

"A" Team Reaches 11-9 Mark

It was an uphill struggle for the A team with the final results being an 11-9 season. The Spartains averaged 39.5 points per game to their opponents' 39.9 point average. Probably the most exciting moment of the season came in mid December when the Spartans neatly defeated St. Stan's for the first time in six years. The Season was not without its disappointments, however. In the third game of the season, LeMans lost in an overtime to New Buffalo. The Spartans also lost to Barker in the first round of the Michigan City invitational. The Spartans beat Barker earlier in the season.

1-5 Season For Baseball Team

Donned in new red uniforms, the baseball team endured the cold, damp spring to tally an unimpressive 1 and 5 season. Several close games slipped out of reach as the Spartans made error after error during crucial times in the game. The season was not written off as a failure, however. Each player felt that he had gained experience and furthered his interest in baseball. Kevin Masterson was voted most valuable player while Andy Kronewitter was given the most improved player award. Tim Goetch received the sportsmanship award.

Rain Puts Damper On Track

The rainy spring put a damper on the 1978 Track Day but the students decided to make the best of the situation. And that they did. Six old records were broken during the two days of events. Mike Parker broke the shot put record in the intermediate division with a 39'3'' throw. Other intermediate record breakers were Stanley Fields with a 15'4'' long jump, David Petty with a 440 yard run in 1:06.8 and Chris Peters, Paul Alexander, Mike Parker and Juan Moragrega running the 880 yard relay in 2:15.8. Francisco Barbara and Brian Murphy broke records in the senior division.

ABOVE - Terry Davidson draws a crowd of spectators as he attempts to break the long jump record.

All year long - not just on beautiful spring days - Lake Michigan and its Indiana Dunes beckon LeMans students and faculty. In this familiar and scenic spot, they find peace, solitude, relaxation, and full appreciation for God's creation. Appropriately we conclude the 1978 ARCHES at days end in that special spot. We pause to reflect, knowing that this is not the end. Each of us will continue to seek, to discover, and to . . .
